Service, Support & Manufacturing Partners

Martech, part of the CodaOctopus Group of Companies, specialise in the design, development and manufacture of custom technology for leading companies in the defence and subsea sectors.

With over 25 years' experience of working with market leading companies, Martech provides key services including, field support, service and repair, design maintenance and manufacturing. For many of our existing customers, including sister company CodaOctopus Products Ltd, Martech ships direct to end users around the world and acts as an arm of our customer, but is in effect, transparent to the end user.

In addition to providing technical support, Martech also undertakes design and manufacturing of custom electronic and mechanical hardware for unique installations and applications. Overall, we aim to help our customers meet or exceed the demands of end users', ensuring they fulfil the widest requirements and expectations for service and support.
